

Congratulations! You have 200 years old to proudly enjoy in a Mexican way

Abstract:

In this article we will try to point a constant, the denial of the miscegenation, through the colonial denial and the idealization of the indigenous past, which since the Independence of Mexico to this day has been present, particularly in those who were positioned as "legitimate" holders of power, reproducing and deepening in racialized social inequality.

Constant that we will analyze through the Lacanian psychoanalytic concept of surplus-enjoyment in the sense of enjoyment of the Other, in order to show that those who became the "legitimate" Mexican-Administration- reproduced the way of enjoy of the "illegitimate" -Colonial Administration- sustaining the descendants of the "legitimate", but "underdeveloped" Mexican past, in exclusion.

Key words: Mexico, Independence, Revolution, Racism, enjoyment.
